

Ashley Steele, a passionate dance teacher with a heart full of love for her students and a deep appreciation for the art.

Ashley creates a nurturing and safe environment where dancers can flourish.

The dedication extends beyond the dance studio, as they cherish the relationships they built through the journey.

Ashley believes in the power of dance and couldn't imagine her life without it. Dance is her way of expressing herself through choreography and while teaching she is passionate about living in the moment and dancing it out.

Throughout her years of dance, Ashley has had numerous performing opportunities from Calgary Stampeders Cheerleader, Drill Crew dance team for the Calgary Roughnecks lacrosse team, The World Police and Fire Games.

Ashley also had the chance to work with a local large media company, which allowed her to experience working on-air for two local television shows.

"What I love most about teaching is being able to give back to students all that I have to give, seeing the growth in the most positive way.

"Always be yourself"

That is true satisfaction.
