

Sam was born and raised in Calgary and has had a passion for dance her whole life. She began dancing at Elite Dance Academy at the age of three and started dancing competitively in all styles of dance when she was six. From being a student herself, to teaching students of all ages - she has loved every minute of it. She has also had the opportunity to take dance workshops across Canada and the United States.

Sam is a fully qualified and certified ADAPT Teacher of Dance after completing the three-year Teacher's Training Program in tap and jazz. She believes that dance not only develops technique and confidence, but it also develops kids into dedicated and hardworking people as well.

Academically speaking, Sam graduated from Mount Royal University with a bachelor's degree in business administration in April 2014 and is working for ATB Capital Markets. Her passion is not only in dance but also in inspiring and encouraging children to be their personal best. She is excited to continue teaching at Elite, the very place that molded her into the person she is today and can't wait to share her love of dance with her students!
